Summary of reasons for decision:

‘6d806339-d742-4647-bd34-877d27c60654’ is an amateur video filmed on the side of a rural road on the Indian subcontinent. It depicts a series of motorcycle collisions including one head-on crash that results in the riders and passengers being violently thrown off their bikes. Whilst the victims are not seen after the crash the force of the impact means they are likely to be seriously injured or even killed. The video is likely to greatly shock and disturb children and teenagers in particular. Footage like this is also likely to have an eventual effect of inuring younger viewers who are still developing emotionally and cognitively, to other real-life suffering more generally. While many adults are also likely to be disturbed by the footage, it would not be reasonable to classify the publication as objectionable given its incidental nature. Adults are also expected to have the maturity and experience to appropriately contextualise potentially distressing material. The Classification Office has considered the effects of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 on the application of all the classification criteria. A restriction on the publication's availability to adults places a limit on the right to freedom of expression, but this is a reasonable and justifiable limitation given the risk of injury to the public good.
